Alpha Decay - Alpha Decay, Alpha Particles ... - PhET The PhET Fission simulation does an excellent job of showing the process of fission, what is produced from fission and how a chain reaction occurs. By modeling fission, students gain a clear picture of the difference between fission and nuclear decay that was learned in the previous 2 lessons . Ninth grade Lesson Fission and Chain Reactions | BetterLesson After about 5 minutes I point out that there is a trick to both #7 (three alpha particles) and #9 (asking for the parent atom), but that I want them to try each one before calling me over.

When students are ready to label the decay series on the back, I have them only find the alpha decays. Ninth grade Lesson Alpha Decay | BetterLesson The final part of the worksheet has students graph a series of decays based on atomic number and atomic mass of the daughter isotopes produced at each step of the decay. Before graphing students must determine the daughter products resulting from alpha and beta decay in the same way that they did in Questions 11-6. Ninth grade Lesson Day 2: Calculating Radioactive Decay The goal is to realize that alpha decay will reduce the mass of isotope by 4 and atomic number by 2. After completing this I will have students volunteer to answer questions 4-6 on the board. Write an equation for the alpha decay of polonium, and then use the Gizmo to check your answer. What isotope remains after the alpha decay of polonium-212? Ninth grade Lesson Day 1: Radioactive Decay Using A Gizmo.
